

主旨: Views

致 CS,

另外, 本人認為要輸入勞工,便要加最低工資至 60 元,及馬上落實最高工時.否則,本地勞工的權益未獲保障,還談什麼輸入勞工,如政府一意孤行,未免太偏幫商界.

香港的發展已屬畸型:

第一,已沒有什麼有發展的行業,除了金融(難到全香港都做炒家!!!!!!)

第二,領匯的商場都是連鎖店,本土小店已無法生存.

第三,自由行更擾民,大多數市民未能得益.

現在政府還要輸入勞工,這只是為商界著想.

發展及金錢掛帥真的那麼重要嗎!!!!!!!

不是的....諾貝爾文學獎得主,說過,<要悠一點,慢一點,自己聰明用五分,留下五分給兒孫.>.

最重要的是, <持續性-Sustainability>.

Best Regards

Edward Cheng Tao Keung

Dear CS,

Following are my views towards population strategy:

1. Since minimum wage in HK is just HKD 30 per hour which is a relatively low level compared to that in USA or Western countries. The disparity between poor and rich people is high. The house price in HK is extremely high but minimum wage is low. Compared with USA or Western countries, their house is not that high but minimum wage is much higher than that in HK.

If government want to import labour, I think the minimum wage should be increased to a level of HKD 60 per hour or more. Otherwise, labour should not be imported.

2. Also, there are already too many University graduates in HK. HK government should not allow more University graduates to come to HK for competition.

HK society is for all HK people, not just for the convenience of Business sectors nor owners. So, HK government should not allow more University graduates to come to HK or allow China/overseas graduates to remain in HK after graduation. That only gives more convenience for the business sectors to have more choice but it is not for the good sake of normal local HK people, nor local young people.

3. 150 mainland immigrants per day to HK - Understood that it cannot be avoided. But for these people, I suggest government to force them to attend ERB training courses when they first come to HK so that they can join the labour market, rather than just getting the CSSA after coming to HK.

4. HK government should use policies to promote birth rate in HK. Failure in Singapore or other countries do not mean that it will fail in HK. HK should be more creative to use new and good policies to advocate birth of babies, such as allowances for pregnancy and birth, baby caring centres should be opened to give more facilities and services for young couples.

The key point is that HK couples want to have babies but both of them may have to work that they have no time to take care babies. HK government should think in this way to help them to solve the problems.

Best Regards

Edward Cheng Tao Keung