Extend the retirement age to a minimum of 60 or 65 and Impose as mandatory including the private sectors.

My wife works a flight attendant for Cathay Pacific Airways and they have a retirement age of only 55 years old. I believe that she and her colleagues are still willing and able to work well until their 60's. Retiring at 55 years old is too young, considering the average life span now is 85 years old. However it is also difficult to look for a new job and start all over again when you are 55

Respectfully yours,
