

主旨: Give Views

- -

Name:
Becky Ng

Comments:

1. Quality of people is more important than quantity 2. Suggest to provide more education on teaching new generation about social responsibilities, generosity, respect, earn from effort, etc, which are important core values. HK people becoming more and more materialistic which diminish our quality.
3. Provide training course for new parents and teach them how to be good parents, and how to teach their children for important core values.
4. Provide huge kindergarten in each district to help the parents in taking care babies for free. Hire HK people who is age 55 - 70 to be workers to work in the kindergarten so as to make a win-win situation for parents and retirees.
5. Provide courses for retired people from different industries to teach or share experience with young people, such as in universities, primary and secondary schools 6. Provide free lunch for school students, free learning, free computer courses, free studies in universities 7. Add subjects such as nutrition, health, exercise, environmental protection to primary and secondary school so that people aware of health and food and in a long run this can reduce medical cost of HK 8. Provide training courses to new immigrants of HK to educate them the core values of HK and how to become good citizens.