About employment of undergraduates:

- The variety of industries are so dominated by finance, trading, construction, building services & management, catering, are there any studies from labour department to study the correlation of the field of study to the employment of these graduates, to make sure that the university is a pre-training institute on an undergraduate's career. If there are not enough job opportunities provided in the field of study, it is a pity.

About the manufacturing sector:

- HK should not only rely heavily on just a few sectors, manufacturing is still a core sector, government can consider to invest in several manufacturing plant in hk together with r&d, e.g. mobile technology, mobile manufacturing, just like investing in disneyland in hk.

About foreign workers:

- Foreign workers will be heavy burden in hk, as a worker will bring whole family to hk, and government is investing resources to all those housing, education, and successfully grow some professional experts from these minority, then fight against hk law to get more quota on immigration. How gov. deal with this situation ?

- Does the low income group be employed 100%, why can't gov provide support to them e.g. child caring services, so that parent can both working for life?

About housewife employment :

- Currently, gov't is just helping low income group in child care services, but no support to middle-income group, so that mother can work only if she found a good maid. Gov't should not only rely on foreign domestic helpers, as they can be problematic and becoming expensive to the family, there should be a choice to each HK permanent family so that they can select a child care services (ranging from new born to the age which stated in hk law that these kids can be alone at home) at price lower than domestic helpers.
