Hong Kong is trend to Financial and Property Centre.

There is no way to promote childbirth, except increasing the income tax waived level.

The local manpower is enough for food & beverage industry, construction and health care for elderly. But these industries are too difficult to keep the manpower. We can use those in construction industry, "ENTER to train", "Higher income" and produce good image towards the industry.

I do not know why thinking "importing manpower", but not "importing talents", to maintain the competitiveness in the Greater China areas.
