Government focus on future economic growth, and need to increase migrants.

In fact, HK is so crowded people cannot live their life anymore. With 7 million people, this number is too large for Hong Kong, this is reason why people age 55 or above either are forced to retire or cannot find a job after company layoff. Resulting to a lot of people haven't earned enough for their retirement yet, and are forced to pick up newspaper or paper box in the street.

(Unlike Australia, US or Canada even age 70 can find a job. That is really a sign of they need more people.)

By importing migrants, this will spoil the employer and encourage them to select the young candidates only. And more local need to retire by age of 50 during that time.

Slow the migrants, employer will be forced to hire local people age 50 or above.
