

Give Views

Comments:

It is necessary to maintain a high quality work force attracting the best talents from all over the world to build up a wealthier Hong Kong, hoping they can create more new industries and new economic locomotives in Hong Kong.

It is necessary to provide software to attract talents:

- a) provide good quality , available and affordable international school education for expatriates children
- b) better living quality, increase land supply using the land in NENT and NWNT and build larger homes for the middle class.
- c) cleaner air
- d) freedom to express our views and preserve press freedom

With an aging population it is the quality of workforce but not the quantity that counts, we need to minimize the increasing financial burden to the society. As the health care expenditure will goes up exponentially, it is necessary to minimize the increase in social expenditure . Hence it is necessary to review 150 one way permit system, its approval process and also lower the cap to say 50 per day or even less.

No import of labour which will create social problems later, examples seen in Europe. Local labour force should be given the first priority. Train local people for the jobs that a lack of workforce is anticipated in future.

Provide more opportunities to train/educate new generation in all fields, including health care and medical related professions. Provide better pay to jobs that are not purely based on academic qualifications to attract younger generation, e.g. construction, building maintenance, film and media, health care, etc.

Review the scope of education in secondary school and provide good quality alternative choices to younger generation such as BTEC courses in UK system.

Provide larger homes for all, be it Government subsidized or private. Provide better living quality and build larger homes for all, it is time to review the 丁權 , set quota to it and to release more land for Government development in NT.