I am approaching retired age, and i wish to move to a place which offers lower living cost for retirement, eg Thailand, Malaysia. Mainland China would not be my choice, as its living cost is getting very high. However, the Old Age Allowance can only be applied in Hong Kong, or Guangzhou. So, here I wish the HK Govt will allow the application from other country. so that retired senior citizen can release their apartments back into the property market. Furthermore, i wish to bring with my parents, however the problem is, my mum needs to follow up hospital frequently for some elderly sickness, if the Govt can have some solution for this, eg have some money allowance so that she can follow up in other country. My parents lives in public housing, if they can come with me, their public housing can be return to the housing department HK. This is a win win situation if the there is enough allowance for the retired HK citizen to retire in other country, so that medical or property burden are released.
